

About the Authors

Matthew Nye and Marilyn Carnes have both kindled their love of National City history while working in our Morgan Local History Room here at the National City Public Library. Combining his degrees in History and Library Science, Nye was the librarian for the Museum of Photographic Arts in San Diego. He is currently a librarian in our Children's Room. Carnes has lived in National City for over 30 years while restoring her Victorian home. The vintage photographs they have gathered are largely from the collection here at the National City Public Library.
